For a Household Golf Membership, privileges are extended to a Member’s spouse or significant other, in addition to children under the age of 26. In the case of a Single Golf Membership, the individual of the household who applies for membership in the Club and is approved by the Board of Governors is the only Club Member in that household entitled to golf privileges with the following exception. To promote the game of golf, a parent who is a Single Golf Member is entitled to have their children who are under 14 years of age golf with them. Once their children become 14 years of age, the Member must transition their membership to a Household Golf Membership to retain this privilege.

(b) “Associate Golf Member” is a membership class for those under thirty six years of age. The Associate Golf Membership may be either “Household” or “Single”. In the case of a Household Associate Golf Membership, the individual of the household who applies for membership in the Club, and is approved by the Board of Governors, is the only Club Member in that household. For a Household Associate Golf Membership, privileges are extended to a Member’s spouse or significant other, in addition to children under the age of 26. MEMBERSHIP CLASS DESCRIPTIONS

(e) “Corporate Members” A corporation, partnership or other business entity may nominate individuals as corporate privilege holders. These individuals shall have the privileges of Social Membership. Within a fiscal year, substitutions of an individual may be permitted only with Board approval upon conditions set by the Board of Governors.

Definition of “Significant Other” Privileges may also be extended to an individual nominated by a Member to be a “significant other” of the member, conditioned upon the following qualifications. The Member and “significant other” must both be unmarried. The Member may only designate one “significant other” per fiscal year. All purchases made and charges incurred by the “significant other” shall be the sole responsibility of the member. In the event that the “significant other” will have other privileges to which extra fees apply, the member’s account will be charged with those fees. Unless the children of the “significant other” cohabit with the member, neither they nor relatives of the “significant other” shall have Club privileges but may be treated as “guests” of the Member. In the case of Single Golf and Single Associate Memberships, golf privileges are extended only to the Member and their children under the age of 14, though all other household members may use the golf facilities as “guests” of the Member subject to appropriate restrictions and fees.
